

Novel Diffractive Optics Research

Specialized diffractive optical elements are being developed to improve contrast and resolution for imaging studies in the soft x-ray region. This research involves the Coherent Optics Beamline and the Nanofabrication Laboratory, and is described in more detail on the Specialized Diffractive Optics page.

---